

St. Vincent Sports Concussion Alliance

Concussion Awareness Week

Come meet Washington, Indiana legend Luke Zeller and hear him speak about his basketball career

Tuesday, July 9 at 6:30 p.m.

Luke, the oldest of the three Zeller brothers, grew up in Washington, Indiana. At Washington High School, Luke graduated as valedictorian with a 4.0 GPA, won the Indiana Mr. Basketball award, was named to the McDonald's All-American Team, and was awarded the Trester Mental Attitude Award after hitting a half-court shot to lead the Hatchets to a state championship. Luke played college ball at the University of Notre Dame, graduating with a degree in Business Management and Entrepreneurship. His five-year professional basketball career took him all around the world, including playing for the Phoenix Suns. He is also a Gallup-Certified Strengths Coach, instructor for the Sport Management program at Indiana University, and provides college commentary for Notre Dame basketball games.

After the event, Dr. Thomas Weinzapfel, St. Vincent Pediatrician and Medical Director of St. Vincent Sports Concussion Alliance, will speak to parents about how to keep your athlete safe and what to expect should they suffer a sports concussion.
